REFUNDING OF WAR DEBT INVOLVES BIG TASK FOR U. S.

"Greatest Financial Undertaking Ever Begun"

$11,333,000,000 DUE

Loans To Allies To Be Converted Into New Securities

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, March 22.—Probably the greatest financial undertaking ever begun by any government will be the task of the Allied Debt Refunding Commission in conducting negotiations with twenty different nations for the refunding or conversion into long time securities of the more than $11,333,000,000 due the United States on its war-time loans.

Most of the debts are in the form of demand obligations bearing interest at 5 percent given by foreign governments as security for war loans. Others are in the form of notes for supplies and materials furnished by the United States. The commission is to effect the transfer of all these evidences of debt into long-time obligations of maturities not exceeding 25 years and bearing interest at not less than 4¼ percent.

It has been indicated at the Treasury, however, that circumstances in connection with negotiations with individual governments may require special authority from congress in working out some of the funding details such as the interest rate to be paid.

All but three of the foreign debtor countries—Cuba, Greece and Nicaragua—are in arrears of interest. This back interest totals $1,183,000,000 and for its payment arrangements also are to be made under the funding plan. By a mutual understanding interest on war loans was deferred for a period of three years which expires in April so that interest on the debts will become payable in October when the first semi-annual instalments would be due.

OWE ELEVEN BILLIONS

According to the Treasury's latest figures the twenty debtor nations owe the United States on all war-time obligations, including those held by the United States Grain Corporation, a total of $11,333,094,041 of which $10,150,134,196 is principle and $1,183,059,844 interest accrued and unpaid.

Interest amounting to $489,813,179 has been paid by thirteen of the debtor nations on various obligations but no interest payments have been made by Armenia, Austria, Esthonia, Hungary, Lithuania or Nicaragua, although in the case of the last named country no interest is due on its notes until their maturity.

Great Britain, France and Italy, combined, owe more than $10,000,000,000 of the total indebtedness due this country. The smallest bill is against Liberia who owes a total of $28,218.85.

HOW DEBTS STAND

On the books of the Treasury the debts of the foreign countries are as follows:

Country	Principal	Interest
Armenia:	$11,959,917	$1,177,548
Austria:	24,055,917	1,443,342

In the present circumstances, according to high Treasury officials, it is not expected that funding negotiations will be opened with Russia owing to the lack

EARLY DECISION IS EXPECTED IN LOBINGIER CASE

Ruling May Come This Week; Attorney Fleming Returns Confident Of Outcome

An early decision in the United States Court for China case, brought to the consideration of the State Department when Mr. William S. Fleming, local attorney, filed charges against Judge C. S. Lobingier and other Court officials, is expected, according to telegraphic messages received here from Washington yesterday. It is thought probable that the decision in the matter may be handed down this week.

Coincident with receipt of this word is the arrival of Mr. Fleming, who returned from Washington Sunday by the steamer Empress of Russia. Pending the announcement of the decision by the Washington authorities, Mr. Fleming declined to discuss the case, beyond stating that he is very optimistic as to the outcome.

With regard to the over-ruling of his appeal by the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals of California in connection with the six-months' jail sentence imposed by Judge Lobingier, Mr. Fleming said that it had no bearing upon the Washington case.

"The matters are entirely separate," he said, "and will have no bearing on the decision in the Washington case."

"I have every confidence in the outcome at Washington," he added.

The following despatches in connection with the Lobingier-Fleming case arrived by wire and mail yesterday:

(China Press Service)

Washington, D. C., April 8.—An early decision is expected on the charges filed by William S. Fleming, American lawyer of Shanghai, against Judge Charles S. Lobingier of the United Court for China, it is learned today. Reports are current that the findings will be made known early this week.

(China Press Service)

Washington, March 18.—Decision on the charges filed against the Judge of the United States Court for China by William S. Fleming of the American bar in Shanghai, will not be handed down until early in April, it became known today.

The decision has been delayed because of pressure of work in the office of Rush L. Holland, Assistant United States Attorney General, who has been conducting the proceedings.

It is expected that he will make his recommendations to Attorney General Harry L. Daugherty early next month at the latest and the latter will then

Carter H. Harrison Here, Tells Striking Story Of Conditions In India

Noted Chicago Leader Who Was Mayor Five Terms After Father Served As Long Says Prohibition In U. S. Must Be Modified

Carter H. Harrison, who was Mayor of America's second city through five terms of office following a father who was elected to the same post for five terms, told something last night of a panorama of varied impressions gathered in many countries he has visited in the past year on a tour around the world. It is a pleasure jaunt with only the purpose to see things of the world, he said.

"My father," he continued, "made the trip around the world in 1887-88 and I've always wanted to do it too, but it was not until last year that I found the time."

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison left Chicago on May 2 of last year and after visiting European countries, India, Ceylon, Burma, the Straits Settlements, Hongkong and the Philippines they arrived in Shanghai on the steamer Wenatchee purposing to spend the time until June 4 in China and Japan before starting for home. Mr. Harrison's sister, Mrs. Heaton Owsley of Chicago, joined Mr. and Mrs. Harrison here, having come from Vancouver, B. C. on the steamer Empress of Russia.

White haired, ruddy and amiably self-assured, but trenchant in all he says, as he ever was through the twelve years that he guided administrative destinies in Chicago, it may be said that time has dealt kindly with Mr. Harrison. And he has not put politics aside—never will—he says.

"But I'm sixty-one," he added whimsically, "and I feel that I can as well sit back and give the younger generations a chance."

STRUCK BY INDIA

Perhaps of all the things he has seen in recent months the sights and conditions in India have stirred him most deeply and he is characteristically frank and blunt in voicing his views on that troubled country. Voices of naked children bathing in the sacred Ganges at Benares in some measure moulded these views.

"Long live Mahatma Gandhi," were their shrill cries, he said, when he and Mrs. Harrison were leaving Benares. "You see," he added, "they thought we were British, and so did the elders who took up the words of the children."

"The English," he said, "have piled up trouble for themselves in India. The people have developed a sullen animosity for them everywhere and it even seems to be stronger in Burma. Why this has come about may not be entirely apparent, but I am inclined to believe that much of the feeling may be traced to the overbearing demeanor that characterises many Englishmen. If they had it all to do over again I have an idea that they might act differently.

"It is now too late to do this, Indians have told me, and they said they knew that admonitions had been sent from London to accord treatment to Indians more on a plane with that accorded to Englishmen. But they told me it now was too late to win them back from a policy to which they are committed.

"It was just another mistake," Mr. Harrison went on, "to arrest Gandhi—when he was arrested. They should have done it in the very beginning or not at all. In the time he was given he has built up a tremendous sentiment. Now they have made a martyr of him and you know what is said of the Church, the Catholic Church—that 'the blood of martyrs is the seed of the Church.'"

Mr. Harrison said he encountered the same sullen looks, the same clouded countenances wherever he went in India.

ANIMOSITY EVERYWHERE

"Whenever we went into a crowded bazaar, or into the temples this animosity was apparent and made itself felt plainly until, mysteriously to us, it was magically removed by speech from our guide.

"I had observed the same phenomenon time and time again," Mr. Harrison continued. "We would be regarded with bitter resentment and lowering faces in which anger was near the surface until our guide began to talk. Then the angry faces would break into smiles. I asked the guide to explain the riddle and he too smiled.

"'They thought you were English and I explained that you are Americans.'"

Mr. Harrison was unwilling to venture any prophecies concerning India's future. He said, however, that he had been told that while Americans now may come safely to India, it may not be well for them to visit the country in the future.

One significant belief that his visit to India has given to him is that in setting out to achieve independence, the people of India are woefully misguided.

"To throw off the English rule would in my opinion be the worst thing possible for them," he said. "It would be bad for the English, but vastly worse for the people of India.

"The country is sunk in such misery and poverty and ignorance as I could not believe might exist anywhere, had I not seen it. Were the Indian people to be left to themselves they would revert to their former condition of incessant internecine warfare and multiplicity of unrestrained rulers—the conditions that held before the English came."

AGAINST PROHIBITION

Departing from the topic of India's unrest Mr. Harrison said he had been away from the United States too long to say anything of conditions there, but he was wholly willing to let it be known that he is strongly oppos-

CHOW TSE-CHI IS NAMED PREMIER; SHAKE-UP LIKELY

Appointment May Bring Settlement Of Cabinet Crisis

BY JOSEF W. HALL

(Staff Correspondent of THE CHINA PRESS)

Peking, April 10.—By the issuance of a Presidential Mandate appointing Chow Tse-chi as Premier, the long controversy regarding the Cabinet may be nearing a settlement despite the failure of the mandate to mention Liang Shih-yi whose latest leave of absence has not yet expired. Since Chow is Liang's lieutenant and will protect his financial interests, Liang apparently must swallow the insult.

Cabinet changes are expected to follow immediately. The President is said to have proposed Chow's appointment to Tsao Kun, warlord of Chihli, but received no response and is believed to have taken this action of appointing Chow as a gamble, trusting to the fact that Wu Pei-fu and Chow are from the same province.

Chow's career includes consular service in American cities, a term as Governor of Shantung, and a place in the cabinet as Finance Minister under Yuan Shih-k'ai. He is amiable and moderate and it is hoped these characteristics, the politicians say, will enable him temporarily to placate the rival factions, but it is believed nothing constructive can eventuate.

Mukden And Paoting Approve Chow Tse-chi For Premiership

Appointment Recommended By Predecessor, Wang Shih-cheng

(Dah Tong News Bureau)

Peking, April 10.—The appointment of Mr. Chow Tse-chi as Premier was recommended by General Wang Shih-cheng, former Premier. President Hsu announced the appointment without consulting any of the warlords in North China or Chow himself. Wang originally recommended both Mr. Chow and Mr. Chu Chi-chien. The latter declined.

Important members of the Chiaotung Clique state that the formation of a Chow Cabinet will depend upon the decision of executive committee of the clique. Chow has gone to Tientsin to consult Premier Liang Shih-yi and Minister Yih Kung-cho. If decision is reached for Chow to assume his office, Liang will at

In The Limelight In Britain

HERE are some of the leading lights in British politics, including Lloyd George, the premier, who has just won a vote of confidence for his government. Others in the group are Sir George Younger, "Unionist Boss," Arthur J. Balfour, whose star has been brighter than ever since his triumph at Washington, Austen Chamberlain, House of Commons leader, and Lord Birkenhead, whose rise in British politics has been meteoric.

Taianfu's Glories Are Mostly Of The Past

By Elsie McCormick

Taianfu is not exactly riding in the vanguard of the parade of progress. Strictly speaking, it probably brings up in the rear somewhere, between the dinosaurus and the Amir of Afghanistan. No Chinese inhabitant of the city was ever known to stumble and dislocate his collar-button in an effort to catch up with Western culture. It is true that Tainanfu is on the railroad, but the tracks are nowhere near the heart of the city; instead, they creep apologetically through the southwestern suburb, a li or two from the city wall.

Except in one of the mission compounds and at the railroad station, no crude electric lights cause annoying spots in the city's velvety darkness, and there are no factory whistles to compete with the soft croon of the oilless wheel-barrows. When a Chinese matron here finds that the recipe book calls for a measure of flour, she doesn't imitate her Western sister at home by sending little Willie to the corner grocery, with instructions to look out for the trolley-cars and to remember to ask for trading-stamps. Instead, she sprinkles some chicken-feed on a heavy stone, runs another stone over it, sweeps the resultant powder into a highly unmanicured hand, and goes on with her biscuits.

THE SIMPLE LIFE

Life is simple in Taianfu. There are no telephones to ring when the wrong person is in the drawing-room, thereby necessitating a gagged conversation that culminates finally in a cautious "Ask me questions." There are no shops selling anything more complex than a pair of Chinese garters. There are no tailors with any knowledge of foreign sewing, thus giving Western residents who want it a moth-proof excuse for wearing their old clothes and complete freedom from worry about the length of the waistline. There are not even any characteristic products to buy for souvenirs, which is a great comfort to a shopworn traveler lately come from Peking. Next to being assured that there is nothing in particular to see, no remark gives us greater joy when we arrive in a new town than to be told that there is nothing in particular to buy.

The Chinese of the city seem to be on a common economic level. By gawking into other people's back yards from the tower of the Anglican Church, we found that all the little mud-brown houses would tell about the same story to the tax assessor. One wealthy Chinese built a foreign-style house to surprise his larger fraction and then discovered that she wouldn't live in it. Therefore it stands empty across from the city wall, a forlorn monument of white and strawberry colored paint and an indication of what happens to a man when he doesn't let his wife draw up the plans herself and put the dining-room where she wants it. Shantung women may have bound feet, but they haven't any bandages around their will-power.

FACIAL WRINKLES

In appearance, residents of Taianfu carry a full stock of the facial wrinkles that are characteristic of the Shantung Chinese. If you have ever made the long, weary trek from Shanghai to Peking, you have no doubt noticed the change in facial architecture on the way North. During the first part of the journey, the countenances that hang over the wire fences at the various stations are as placid as a painted mill-pond. As soon as the train crosses the Shantung boundary, however, placidity is changed for a whole faceful of little ripples, the play of which is terminated only by the untimely interference of neck, hair, and ears. Let a bright idea strike a Shantungese full in the cranium and you will see the same effect that you would get by dropping a stone into a pool. Every man beyond youth has permanent crows' feet that extend up under his skull-cap and that would defy the scalding towels and muscularly applied cold cream of even the most ruthless of massage amahs. The younger men usually have a plump roundness of face, which, combined with a queue and an unknowing eye, gives them the appearance of the Compleat Dumb Bell. We would like to know what philosophy the men of Shantung stumble upon between youth and middle-age to change the face of a country bumpkin into a countenance folded by lines of infinite shrewdness and wisdom. Perhaps an investigator might find a book of Confucius' forgotten sayings still knocking about the province, or else a little lore of Lao-

3 JAPANESE SEAPLANES TO WELCOME BRITISH HEIR

Flying Boats To Be Sent From Kasumigaura

TOKIO IS ABLAZE

Colorful Reception Promised Royal Visitor

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio Apr. 10.—first to greet the Prince of Wales as soon as the Renown reaches Japanese waters, will be a formation of three flying boats (Short Bros. F5 Type) sent out by the Naval Air Service with headquarters at Kasumigaura.

These three boats will proceed to Kagoshima to meet the Royal visitor, making the trip by four stages. The machines will be flown by Lieutenant Commander Brackley of the British Aviation Mission and two Japanese pilots who have received their instruction at the Mission's hands.

The return trip will be made direct to the base via the South of the island of Shikoku.

Tokio, April 10.—The full list of the reception committee in connection with the Prince of Wales' visit is announced as follows:

H. I. H. Prince Yorihoto Higashi Fushimi who is well-known in Great Britain having been there on two official visits, once when he represented the Imperial Japanese Court at the Coronation, and again when he was sent on a special mission to present the sword of a Marshal in the Japanese army to His Majesty the King.

H. E. Count Sutemi Chinda, a former Ambassador in London, and more lately known to the British people as a member of the suite of H. I. H. the Prince Regent. Count Chinda is now one of the chief advisers to the Regent, having been appointed to this post last November.

Viscount Yoshitami Matsudaira, a Master of Ceremonies, who has spent many years in London, and who accompanied Prince Higashi Fushimi in 1918.

Marquis Tsuneyasu Nakamikado, a Master of Ceremonies, who has only recently returned from a tour through Europe and America.

Major General Toyohiko Yoshida, who was with Prince Higashi Fushimi at the time of the Coronation, and is now attached to the Imperial Household.

Rear Admiral Katsunoshin Yamanashi who was closely associated with the British Navy during war.

Mr. Nobumichi Sakenobu of the Foreign Office, who served in London as Councillor.

Mr. Setsuzo Sawada, also of the Foreign Office.

Lieutenant Colonel Masanosuke Tsunoda.

Commander Kai and Kurokawa, I. J. N.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, April 10.—As soon as the first reports that H. R. H. the Prince of Wales contemplated a visit to the Far East reached Japan, all classes, officials and people alike, began to lay plans for his reception. All evinced a desire to take a share in welcoming the young man who had become so familiar to them through the accounts of his marvellous progress through the Dominions and America, and of his sterling record during the war years.

This desire to see and to become acquainted with the British Heir to the Throne was prompted not only by the traditional friendship existing between the two countries, but also by the personality of the young Prince himself who has won all hearts wherever he has gone.

The disappointment when the doctors recommended a postponement of the Royal tour of India, with its consequent delay of the visit to Japan was correspondingly great. Then came the all absorbing and unprecedented visit of the Japanese Crown Prince to Europe, followed by the announcement that His Majesty King George was pleased to accept for his eldest son an invitation to visit the Imperial Court of Japan. Hope revived once more and for the last nine months preparations have been pushed on rapidly.

POPULAR VISIT

The exchange of international courtesies is by no means infrequent in this far distant land, but hitherto they have largely been restricted to official or commercial circles, and have made little or no popular appeal. The stories, however, of the British people's interest in the movements of Prince Hirohito of Japan, notably at Windsor and at the Universities, made a deep impression here, with the result that on his return he was for several days the object of demonstrations such as had never before been witnessed.

A similar welcome, purely popular in character, awaited the great French soldier, Joffre, and from the indications already given, it can safely be asserted that Edward, Prince of Wales, will be received in a fashion that will remind him of many occasions in the Dominions or the homeland.

"London is in the habit of receiving royalty," said the Mayor of Tokio the other day, "we are not, and now we are to establish a precedent for future occasions. We shall try to do it well."

And well done it will be, though in a very different manner from the receptions given him in the Dominions and America, for here the customary deference in the presence of Royalty must temper the expression of popular admiration.

Painstaking thought and attention have been given to the perfection of every detail of the program that is being arranged for his entertainment, and those in charge have made every effort to satisfy the demands of institutions and individuals who wish to do him honor.

While the program is a full one, the uppermost thought in the minds of the responsible officials has been to leave the Prince as free as possible, partly in order that, as one of them said, "he may rest a little after his arduous tour through India," and partly that he may see Japan in his own way.

SEVEN DAYS IN TOKIO

The first seven days of his visit will be spent in the capital and here his time will be largely absorbed by court and official visits and banquets. If there is one man in the country who is looking forward to the Royal visitor's arrival more than any other, that man is H. I. H. the Prince Regent, who has the pleasantest memories of Prince Edward's friendly attentions to him last year, and who is naturally anxious to reciprocate them in his own home.

Interspersed between the various official functions come visits to what may be termed the "sights" of Tokio, and receptions by the municipality, the university, and many of the country's noblest-born.

It is a happy combination of circumstances that has brought the Prince to Japan in April, for of all the "sights" that he may "do" there is none more charming than the cherry-blossom—and that is everywhere. Tokio in the cherry-season is indeed a city transformed.

While there may be much in the entertainment provided for the Prince that will not distinguish this from other places he has visited, it has been arranged that he shall see as much as possible of the real Japan. A visit to the Meiji Shrine will reveal to him the people's spirit of loyalty and reverence for the greatest Japanese of modern times; at the theater he will be introduced to a wonderous presentation of old Japan, and in many a garden he will see examples of that curious blend of art and nature—landscape in miniature.

BRITONS TO GREET HIM

Opportunity will also be given to Tokio and elsewhere for Britons to see and meet their Prince. Yokohama and Kobe are to entertain in a way that he always enjoys—with a ball. In Tokio the Ambassador will be "at home" one afternoon to British subjects, and it is hoped that on the Sunday (Easter Sunday) he spends in Tokio, he will attend the English church service, when he will be asked to unveil memorial tablets to those who went from this distant city and laid down their lives for King and country.

His Tokio week ended and official functions over, the Prince will visit some of the places that have set Japan high in the tourist's estimation. First to Nikko, the Imperial mountain resort and the Mecca of the devout the whole year round, with its celebrated Red Bridge and the shrines in honor of Tokugawas. Then, if the weather permits, to Hakone, round the base of the "peerless" Fuji and Lake Shoji nestling among the wooded hills. The journey from Shoji to Kyoto will probably be made via Kofu.

After a stay of two or three days in Kyoto the Royal party will move on to Nara, another ancient capital of the country, full of historic associations, and containing a park that closely resembles an English manor. Then to Osaka where a short halt will be made in order that business Japan may pay its respects to the nation's guest.

Kobe, some twenty miles away, is the end of this section of the Royal tour, and from here the Prince will embark in a specially equipped steamer for his trip through the Inland Sea.

After a short visit to the Sacred Island of Miyajima and the naval school at Etajima, the Prince will sail in the Renown for Kagoshima of Satsuma, Japan's southernmost city, renowned alike for the beauty of its surroundings and as the birthplace of many of the country's most famous warriors and seamen.

ALL TOKIO DECORATED

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, April 9.—With regard to the method of welcome of the Prince of Wales, the Municipality of Tokio, after a series of consultations with the Imperial Household Department, has decided in the main as follows:

Besides erecting high towers in front of Tokio Station after the fashion of the London Bridge, elaborate decorations will be made by making use of road-side trees, on which the crests of the Prince of Wales are to be displayed. On the ceiling of the platform of Tokio Station, artificial cheery-blossoms will be hung. On the pillars the flags of Great Britain and Japan will be draped. The open space of the landing place of the station will be walled in with tapestry of red and white with rails embellished with patterns of cherry-blossoms in addition to the decorations of laurel, roses and flags.

At the entrances of Uyeno and Shiba Parks, gigantic gates to welcome His Royal Highness have been erected. Each of these gates has the length of 126 feet and the height of 50 feet, with the words over the gates "Welcome" in three colors, red, green and yellow.

On the open ground in front of the Nijubashi (Double Bridge), a main gate to the Imperial Palace, some 2,000 pupils representative of all elementary schools in the City of Tokio will welcome the Prince of Wales, singing in chorus the British anthem, with British and Japanese flags in their hands.

On the evening of April 13, there will be grand lantern processions by the Young Men's and Businessmen's Associations. On the evening of April 17, His Royal Highness, with the Crown Prince Regent of Japan, will attend the Imperial Theater, where the most popular and celebrated classical dramas are expected to be played by the first-class Japanese actors and actresses. To this performance will go about 1,000 dignitaries, including Princes and Princesses of the Blood, all Cabinet Ministers, foreign Ambassadors and Ministers. Prior to the commencement of the plays, Baron Goto, Mayor of Tokio City, will read an address of welcome.

Moving pictures, showing the detailed movements of the Prince of Wales, starting at his arrival at Yokohama until his departure from Tokio, will be taken, and it has been decided to present them to His Royal Highness, when he leaves the Capital. These pictures will be shown to the public on April 14 and 17 in Hibiya Park.

On April 16, a British and Japanese concert will be given at the bandstand of Hibiya Park, which will be attended by His Royal Highness. On April 18, the Prince of Wales will repair to the Peace Exhibition at Uyeno Park.

TO PRESENT BOUQUETS

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, April 9.—It has been decided that Miss D. Holms, daughter of Mr. Holms, the British Consul General at Yokohama, and Miss. Toshiko Inouye, daughter of Mr. Inouye, the Governor of Kanagawa Prefecture, will have the honor of presenting bouquets to the Prince of Wales when His Royal Highness first sets his foot on Japanese soil at Yokohama.

Today, the Crown Prince Regent has been to the Imperial Detached Palace at Akasaka, where the Prince of Wales will stay while he is in the capital, and personally inspected the whole arrangements in the Palace. It is further reported that the Prince of Wales will hold a public reception during his stay in Tokio.

ed to prohibition, as it exists in the United States.

"Is it going to remain?" he was asked.

"I can't see what can be done to keep it from remaining."

He pointed out that half of the states were dry before prohibition was made nationally effective and to make any change in the constitutional amendment is going to take three-fourths majorities in the legislatures of two-thirds of the states of the union.

"And besides that," he went on, "I don't believe you could muster a corporal's guard in America that would be willing to go back to the days of the saloon. But I do feel that some modification of the existing law, if only of the Volstead Act, should be brought about."

"Why are you against prohibition as it stands?" was a question and the answer came quickly.

"IT WON'T WORK"

"Because it won't work and can't work." And Mr. Harrison went on to tell something of the wholesale scale upon which the people of the United States now are making their own intoxicants.

"I was commiserating with a California vineyardist, thinking that his losses when wine making was forbidden must have been tremendous," he explained. "That man—formerly one of California's biggest wine producers—told me the vineyards were making vastly more money than ever before—by selling their raisins and their grapes—that they were increasing their planted acreage to meet the demand which they could not fill.

"The people are making their own drinks—largely with California raisins. That's why prohibition will not work."

ABOUT REPORTERS

Something reminded the former Chicago Mayor of times when he was at the helm of things political in Chicago and this gave rise to a tribute that he paid to newspapermen.

"Through the twelve years I was Mayor," he said, "two periods of the day were sacred. It didn't matter who I was talking to or what I was doing—at 11 o'clock in the morning I saw the men of the afternoon newspapers, and at 4 o'clock in the afternoon I saw the men of the morning newspapers. I stopped everything else at those hours to talk to the newspapermen." He paused and grew wholly serious.

"And I want to tell you something else. In those twelve years, seeing groups from a dozen papers twice daily I came in contact with hundreds and hundreds of newspaper men. I dealt with them openly and told them everything I could, answered every question—often things that could not be published until I gave the word—and in that whole period my confidence was violated but upon two occasions. One of those occasions was not at all flagrant and in fact, I myself was largely to blame in a way. It seems a fine showing to me."

OF NOTEWORTHY FAMILY

Mr. Harrison comes from one of America's noteworthy families. He is a descendant of Carter Henry Harrison of Virginia, brother of Benjamin Harrison, one of the Virginia Signers of the Declaration of Independence. His father, Carter Harrison, was mayor of Chicago from 1879 to 1887 and subsequently was elected to a fifth term of office in 1893, the year of the World's Fair, serving until the end of the year when he was assassinated when a bomb was thrown in the Haymarket Riots. The son served as Mayor of Chicago from 1897 until 1905 and subsequently was elected and served from 1911 until 1915.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison with Mrs. Owsley will be in Shanghai at least through the week after which they will tour the larger Northern centers and will probably proceed to Japan through Korea. They will sail for home from Yokohama on June 4.

make his decision known after it has been submitted to the Secretary of State. The Departments of State and Justice are both interested in the matter, and several witnesses from the State Department gave evidence at the hearing of the charges, while their advice was subsequently sought by Mr. Holland and his co-workers in the Department of Justice.

Judge Lobingier is remaining in Washington until the decision is handed down.

There Really Was An Explosion, But Just Where Was It?

According to reliable report there was an explosion somewhere in the Municipal Block, bounded by Kiangse, Hankow, Honan and Foochow Roads yesterday. As to its exact location there is a dark, dank absence of information. Theories, however are plentiful; viz.: the location was the Health Dep't. laboratories, where a Chinese assistant mixed the phials in the surreptitious compounding of something for home consumption; the location was the Central Police Station compound, where a Sikh was seen picking his teeth with a carbine cartridge; it was the North Wing, where a newspaper reporter was being expelled from the private lift; it was the Fire Station, where Chief Pett had just received another false alarm, or, if you like, it was a premature setting off of the eight million new debenture issue in the revenue offices. Take your choice.

Criminals Kill 21 Chicago Policemen

(Reuter's Service)

Chicago, Ill., March 20.—Twenty-one police officers were killed while on duty during the past three years, according to the committee on police of the Chicago Crime Commission. Of these six were slain in 1921, ten in 1920 and nine in 1919. Among the victims last year was Sergeant Patrick O'Neill, fatally shot while trying to arrest Tommy O'Connor.

News from Mukden and Paotingfu indicates that both Chang Tso-lin and Tsao Kun are agreeable to Chow's appointment, Wu Pei-fu, however, still insists that Liang be dismissed, which is an indirect way of opposing Chow, because he knows that the latter will never endorse a Presidential Mandate, relieving from office his faction chief.

The Cabinet has despatched Hsiao Fan-ching, an advisor, to Tientsin to welcome Chow back to the capital.

Cow Gives Birth To Quintet Of Calves

(Reuter's Service)

Regina, Sask. March 22.—A pure-bred Jersey, owned by Mr. Hollis Williams, a farmer at Estlin, Sask., has just given birth to five calves, all normal, weighing about thirty pounds each. This same cow last year gave birth to three normal calves.

The latest performance is somewhat detracted from, in the fact that none of this year's litter of calves lived. This was due to the mother cow taking fright at a train a few days before giving birth and running over a mile, according to a statement of the man in charge of Mr. William's animals at the farm.

Taianfu's Glories Are Mostly Of The Past

tre which he didn't intend to let out beyond the confines of his own sewing-circle.

REINED IN TROUSERS

The women of the province differ little from their sisters of the South except that they rein in their trousers around the ankle, that they have an acute weakness for silver ornaments, and that bound feet are universal, even on the little girls. We have seen none of the giggling, tight-waisted little flappers who leave a trail of caramel papers behind them on Nanking Road and another trail of silk-shop bills for father to peruse painfully on the nearest Number One day. The girls of Taianfu perambulate with that walking-on-eggs motion familiar to every woman who has worn a tight shoe and express small interest in the adjacent scenery. Dark rings under young eyes prove that more than one maiden of Shantung is buying her golden lilies with the customary cask of tears.

Incidentally, we have not seen one silk-clad woman since we came to the city and not more than two or three silk-garbed men. The mentor who predicts what the people of Taianfu will wear this season need only inscribe, "Blue cotton will be de rigeur for both sexes. It will be worn at dinner, and also at breakfast, tiffin and tea. It will be considered correct for lounging robes, dinner-jackets, sports, and for rolling a wheel-barrow. It will also be the most popular material for lingerie and robes de nuit." Having written this, the mentor can move his moving finger on and retire to a landlord proof cave, for the Summer or Winter as the case may be, confident that he will not be disturbed by anybody calling his predictions false. Next to being weather prophet on an afternoon paper and writing the forecast for the current day a few hours after tiffin, we can't imagine any easier position than this. Blue cotton and light mud-colored walls seem to be the two essential ingredients in a Taianfu landscape.

Though the city frankly places repose higher than restlessness and values the old, irksome ways of labor more highly than the speeding devices of the West, though the people are cotton clad and the houses of small dimensions, Taianfu asks no pity from the resident of more progressive parts. Instead, her very walls seem to stand with greater dignity than others, because she realises that she is under the shadow of the great sacred mountain, the peak where the Lady of the Many Colored Clouds sleeps in peace and where the Pearly Emperor holds his court above the mists that gather on the summit.

Gen. Chang's Troops Are Near Tientsin

Tientsin, April 10.—Three of General Chang Tso-lin's troop-trains arrived this morning at Chinlungcheng about 12 miles from Tientsin. The troops detrained and the trucks returned to Mukden. A fourth troop-train has reached Tongshan and apparently is also proceeding to Chinlungcheng.

RECESS PROPOSED

Discovered Too Late

TOO often the failure of men to provide for their families is not discovered till their death. Property may not be fully paid for, debts may have accumulated, titles may be questionable, wills may be defective, or savings be inadequate. The consequences of such failures are often so serious that it is hard to see how men can be willing to take any chances.

IN such an important matter as this too great care cannot be exercised. The duty is one that a husband and father should be glad to perform—and to be sure that he had performed it.

THE one sure means for meeting this duty is life insurance. It is within reach of even moderate incomes. There is no other safe way whereby a man, for a small investment, can immediately create an estate that will fully protect his family.

Testimony Is Concluded In British Supreme Court In Pomeroy-Quelch Suit

Defendant Is Cross-Examined At Length Concerning Deals While He Was In England When Pomeroy Was In Charge Of Business Here

Taking of testimony was concluded before Judge Peter Grain in the British Supreme Court yesterday in the case of Mr. P. F. Pomeroy against Mr. Henry Quelch of Garner, Quelch and Company and a decision shortly will be given, it is expected.

The claims of the defendant in the case include Tls. 20,000 alleged damages for wrongful dismissal, Tls. 5,000 bonus, and other sums alleged to be due for salary and commission and for a certain property that was sold at Kasio, British Columbia.

Through the greater part of the day yesterday the defendant was on the stand under cross-examination concerning transactions that took place while he was in England when the plaintiff was in charge of the business here.

At the afternoon session questions concerning the value of the Kasio property were taken up and some testimony was given on the subject of Canadian property values by Mr. John Wiley. Before the summing up of counsel began Mr. Pomeroy was recalled to the stand for several questions.

ACCOUNTANT HEARD

Following the testimony of Mr. Quelch one other witness heard was Mr. John A. Turner, chartered accountant of the firm of Seth. Mancell and McClure, who told of having made an examination of the books and records of the firm.

Mr. Tycho Wing is appearing for the plaintiff in the case and conducted the cross-examination of the defendant yesterday. Mr. Ranald Macdonald is appearing for Mr. Quelch. Mr. Quelch's testimony under cross examination was as follows:

You were speaking the last time about monies that the plaintiff had to find here. You tell us that he had to find money for your private expenses in Shanghai. Besides that he had paid off during the ten months that he conducted your business Tls. 45,000 for trade bills?—That may be so.

All the things that you ordered and things not used in wine merchant's business the plaintiff had to pay and find the money. You agree your ordering hams and other things tended to plaintiff's difficulty in finding money?—I do not think so.

Suppose he has collected a sum of money and he must make the remittances that you ordered him to make and suddenly a demand came along he would not be in a position to send the money?—I agree.

Besides these other things did you not collect money due to the business?—£200 to £300.

In the ordinary course that would have been paid to the Shanghai business?—At the end of the year.

Your itinerary was not mapped out?—It was fairly mapped out. It was my intention to remain for a little while in Canada.

You went back to England sooner than you had intended?—No.

ACCOUNT TRANSFERRED

You know that the Asia Bank account was transferred from the name of the firm to the plaintiff's name. For the purpose of that account if Pomeroy wanted to have money sent to you and if he put that money in the private account he would sign for it?—Yes.

That in the ordinary way would be debited to Pomeroy's account?—Yes.

You will agree with me that all the figures shown in that account as money overdrawn by the plaintiff may be money put in that account for sending to you?—I would hardly agree with that.

This question of bonus. Do you mean that Pomeroy did not ask for an increase seeing that he had all the responsibilities of the business?—I cannot recall Pomeroy asking for an increase. In my opinion Pomeroy was pleased to do the work and remain in that position.

This you say was a business trip?—It was a business trip. I cannot say it was a business trip entirely. There was business done on the trip.

What is the object in giving orders that money in respect of your personal litigation in England should be debited to travelling expenses account?—No particular object. I could say in what account the money should go.

Don't you think that misleading?—No. Misleading to whom?

You are complaining of secret commissions paid by Pomeroy to Krempasky, which you saw rather improper. It enabled Krempasky to charge more than a firm amount to his employers?—No.

You have done business with Krempasky yourself?—Yes.

Did you not do exactly the same thing with Krempasky that you were blaming Pomeroy for?—I cannot recall.

Some months after Pomeroy left your employment did you not have a deal with Krempasky and did you not put him in a way of secretly making a profit at the expense of his employers? Did you think that proper?—Two invoices were made, one for him with the correct prices and the other with increased prices. It is done very frequently. It was done to help him. It is not a secret profit because Krempasky was the principal. I will make out three invoices if I am asked. It is a very general thing in the trade. The reason why these invoices are prepared is to enable the party to show to the buyers that he has paid the increased price.

Do you still consider it improper for Pomeroy to have done that with Krempasky?—From the accounts I have found that the deal was with the Czecho-Slovak Government.

Plaintiff had wide powers for the management of your business?—Subject of course to my instructions.

Do you state that it was outside his discretion to make a loan to someone who had large dealings with the firm?—I think it was. If I sanctioned it, it would be alright.

If Krempasky came to the office and said he was hard pressed for $200, you do not suggest he should cable to you in England?—I feel that if I were Pomeroy I would say, 'I am sorry.' I do not see how a customer could take offence if he is dealing with an employe. If he could loan $700 he could loan $10,000. It would embarrass me. I fact, it did embarrass me.

You were pressing the plaintiff to keep his stocks down. There was a certain amount of stock. If he cannot find a market for it in Shanghai was it not a reasonable thing to send it to Vancouver?—I do not think so. We were not trading with Vancouver. If some one came from Timbuctoo or Africa and put the money down on my table and said we want 1,000 cases of wine I would send it. I consider it an improper thing for an employe to consign goods to himself.

You say it is improper that he should have invoiced the things to himself?—Under the circumstances.

What harm would it do?—It would do no harm if the transaction was carried out.

If it would do no harm why say it is improper?—He took the cargo to Vancouver on speculation. On the face of it I think he had no right.

In point of fact you had sent goods?—I had never done it before that.

Is it outside his discretion when he is in your place to do a thing that you have done?—In the ordinary way.

You know that there was a sale to Davies?—I cannot think of any sale. There was some form of that kind entered into.

With regard to these contracts there was a credit that failed with the Chartered Bank. The Chartered Bank would not open the credit?—Yes, owing to that credit not being opened, that transaction fell through.

Will you not admit that the reason why that credit was not opened was because the Chartered Bank did not like to deal with you?—No. The real reason was, I think, that they had trouble previously with the same firm. I think it was a irrevocable letter of credit.

You say that the plaintiff went away with the object of making a secret profit for himself?—I think so.

VOICES CHARGES

If he wanted to do that he could have gone in May, a couple of boats after yours?—Yes, he may have gone at any time.

It is a serious thing that you make this allegation. What reasons have you for thinking he was dishonest? In not letting me know that this deal had gone through. That is one of the reasons. Another is that in making the trip with Davies he had not kept me informed.

He told you he was going and that he expected to make a big profit. If he were going to make a secret profit you would not expect that he would say that he was going to make a large profit? No, not in that way. If a man is anxious to make a secret profit he might say anything.

The Judge: I can relieve you on that point Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Wing. There is nothing before me that there was an intention of a secret profit. As far as secret profit or intention to act dishonestly and to put money into his pocket, I can relieve you.

Mr. MacDonald said that previously he had no material in his possession and hence the allegation was made. After he had seen the bills of lading and invoices he was inclined to withdraw that.

Mr. Wing: I am much obliged as it is an important point.

In further examination by Mr. McDonald, the defendant said when he left Shanghai he had given two powers of attorney, one to Pomeroy and one to Lang.

Have you any material from which you can tell what expenditure Pomeroy made in the Asia Bank account was for the firm or himself.? No. I have never received any account of the payees or the amounts which have been expended.

No. 33. Buttons and Badges. The Commandant has decided, after consultation with all unit Commanders, that, with the possible exception of the Portuguese Company, all units will in future wear brass, i.e. no bronze or black, buttons and badges of every description. There is a sufficient supply of brass buttons in stock at Corps Headquarters to enable individuals to obtain these in exchange for black ones at once. The supply of brass Cap and other badges at Corps Headquarters is insufficient at the moment to enable all individuals to get these changes at once. The Corps Q.M.S. will attend a parade of each unit as his stock permits to change these for individuals, but meanwhile individuals can assist materially by getting the bronze or other colored lacquer removed from their badges with the aid of native vinegar or other suitable medium. It is the cap badges, at present of every variety of color, to which attention should particularly be paid.

No. 34. Command. During the temporary absence of the Commandant from April 18 to May 1, Major Pilcher will be in temporary command of the Corps.

No. 35. Officers Leave.—Captain W. J. Monk, Reserve of Officers from April 8, to October 31, 1922.

Ex-Shanghai Man Comes To Orient As Motion Picture Chief

For the purpose of opening up a Far Eastern office for the United Artists' Corporation, producers of motion picture films, Mr. George Mooser, former Shanghai man, has just arrived in Tokio, where the head offices for the Orient will be located.

Mr. Mooser of late years has been active in the theatrical and motion picture business in New York. He was for five years New York manager for Oliver Morosco and has handled production work also for Lasky and for the Goldwyn corporation. In addition he has produced six plays on his own account, one of his stars being Bertha Kalich. The United Artists' Corporation numbers among its leading lights such performers as Douglas Fairbanks, Mary Pickford and Charlie Chaplin, while D. W. Griffith, producing wizard, is also a factor.

Accompanying Mr. Mooser to the East by the steamer Golden State were, besides his wife and daughter, Mr. S. H. Pierson, formerly of the New York Telegraph, and Mr. Howard Arlington Boyle, who will be associated with the Tokio office of the corporation. In the Autumn Mr. Mooser will go to Bombay to open offices there. The Tokio office will have charge of the distribution of United Artists' pictures throughout the Far East.

"One of the first things we have to do," said Mr. Mooser before he left San Francisco, " is to put a stop to the pirating of pictures which has been going on to considerable extent. That is, feature films have been stolen in America, shipped across and there reprinted and distributed. We are taking twenty-six of United Artists' latest pictures with us, and from the Tokio office, to begin with, will look after proper placing of them and their exhibition in China, Japan and the Philippines. The field will be extended later."

Mrs. Gordon-West's Opinion of "Kirby's Sea-Sick Cure"

Park Lane,
February 4, 1912.

Messrs. COLLINS & ROSS,
154 Bermondsey St., London.

DEAR SIRS,

Until my last voyage to New York I dreaded sea travelling. Hitherto I had been so susceptible to sea-sickness that I could not leave my bed during the whole of the voyage. Even when travellin by train I have been obliged to lie down.

Before leaving for New York, I was persuaded to take "KIRBY'S SEA-SICK CURE" and was surprised to find that I not only avoided sea-sickness, but was entirely free from nausea of any kind. We had very rough seas during the greater part of the voyage, but I took all my meals in the saloon, and never felt better.

I shall never travel without the cure in future. You should make the remedy widely known, for it will be a boon to thousands.

Yours gratefully,
(Signed) MARY GORDON-WEST.

BASEBALL CLUB PLANS ANOTHER DRIVE FOR FANS

Old Members To Have One More Chance To Register In

ONLY 200 HAVE ENROLLED

Secretary Smith Says He'll Go Get 'em If They Don't Sign Up

Mr. Clement J. Smith, secretary-treasurer of the Shanghai Baseball Club, the man who has been burdened with the task of bringing up the club's membership to 1,000 for 1922 is beginning to consider the job real seriously. He was supposed to have a start of 655 members left over from last year, and a mere 345 new names to list on the organisation's roll, but——

After sending out 655 bills to old members and waiting a full week for come-backs in the nature of checks or ten-spots, he has only heard from a scant 200 men. And many of these are new men. He is beginning to wonder what has become of those 655 members who were supposed to be certainties for this season.

The Club last year gave Shanghai fans exactly 43 games of baseball, at least half of which ranked extra high in quality. The other half (21½) were regular ball games fit for any fan to root at. And this season, with the support from the public that is to be expected, will give as much if not more.

Smith will give those fans of last year one more chance to register. He is planning to send a follow up to his first letter and if results are not forthcoming to go after the whole public with a gang of baseball boosters armed with I.O.U.'s, with instructions never to stop.

Fifteen fans enrolled yesterday. Twenty-five of the total of fifty or more checks lost a week ago when Smith had his letter case stolen from his ricksha on Avenue Dubail have written in to help in the tracing of their lost checks. If the remainder of these men do not bother to trace their own checks, the Club will have no way to know who are in and who are not. Smith urges every one who sent checks in before April 2 to notify him, or when they finally awake to the fact that they have not received the ticket for which they have paid, to speak about it then and all will be well.

Rain spoiled the practice yesterday, but it is expected that the squad may get out this evening at 5 o'clock on the baseball field. Practice is scheduled for every day of the week at 5 p.m., and on Saturday at three.

SAYS 'BUGS' Baer: THE GINK COULD DO NO WRONG

He Couldn't Do Right, Either; But What's It To You?

BY "BUGS" BAER

Detour:

..How about the time my man Jabber Leech knocked Gink for a double order of milestones in the old Abattoir Arena? Gink was on the canvas so long that a tailor climbed into the ring and made it into a suit of clothes for him. He still wears his canvas full dress outfit whenever he steps forth to dine on his friends.

And he dines free and plenty in spite of the fact that he has no friends.

Yours until buttons are money,
COKE BREEZE.
Sleigh Ride, Pa.

Admiration compels us to remain silent in regard to Mr. Breeze, as we don't want to see him do a stretch in the Iron Clubhouse up the Hudson.

Jabber Leech never jabbed anything except a toy balloon. Gink was a gentleman. Some folks claimed that he fought with his knife. But Gink had table etiquette down fine. He fought with nothing but his fork. We understand that Mr. Breeze is a male seamstress. He does plenty of needlework. He crochets his forearm.

Nobody ever chased Gink out of the ring, and he never wore a canvas vest, even if he did think that resin was face powder.

When he and The Glutt scuffled 367 rounds to nobody's decision it was a gala night in Roughtown. Everybody who could afford to pay to get in crashed the gate. Those who couldn't afford to pay started profit-sharing panics of their own. When the gong sounded there was exactly two dollars in the house and that was counterfeit.

But when the drama is at stake it's no time to think of rebates. Gink and The Glutt crouched nervously at opposite ends of the world. The Glutt's pals got nervous and started to bite Gink's fingernails.

Gink danced around looking for an opening and saw it in a stovepipe. Up he went like a ferret in rat time.

The Glutt was dazed by this superior deceit and sparred ferociously with a sponge, while his knees shivered defiantly. Gink went down from a pulled punch and the referee started in to count wrong.

Dick Boyle says that Gink hated the sight of the ring tarpaulin so much that he couldn't eat canvasback duck.

The Glutt spanked Gink down twelve times out of twelve.

But Gink won the fight, as he always fought fifteen or no count.

BASEBALL RECORD FOR 1922 A NEW AND BETTER BOOK

Spalding's official baseball record for 1922, the fifteenth annual book of its kind published by the American Sports Publishing company, New York arrived in Shanghai yesterday, full of all of the usual baseball information, and bristling with new and valuable little features making for ease in finding statistics or bits of information about the game since baseball history began. The 1922 record is by far the best ever issued.

The book is in three parts. The first is devoted to the records of 1921 for professional baseball; Part II is given over to College baseball records, and Part III to records of Previous Years. The latter part, by a clever innovation instituted for the first time this year though a part of the main Record, is separately bound and may be detached, leaving a 90-page paper covered booklet for ready reference of condensed records.

Babe Ruth's new home run record of 59 circuits for the playing season, more than double his own world's record of 29 for the year previous is given first notice in the Record. Rogers Hornsby, the St. Louis second sacker, who led the National league in batting is termed "The commanding figure" of all around baseball for 1921. Hornsby aside from finishing the season as leading batsman also went into the record for the most hits, the most runs, the most two-base hits and tied for most three-base hits. Honors in the American league are divided between Ruth as leading home run hitter and run scorer, and Harry F. Heilmann, of Detroit, leading batsman, and most hits. Heilmann's leading Ty Cobb and George Sisler, two of the best batsmen in the history of the game, was a truly great feat, according to the Record. It places him in the baseball Hall of Fame.

Full scores, details and summaries of the 1921 world series are included in the Record, together with many interesting pages listing unusual baseball facts and unique records, together with a condensed history of the game studied from every angle since the first records were kept.

Moving pictures of the fight for the European heavyweight championship between Georges Carpentier of France and George Cook of Australia, held in London January 12 arrived in Shanghai yesterday and were showed in private by Manager G. Weiss, of the Pathe-Orient company to members of the press.

The film is of the usual high quality maintained by Pathe. They show the two men in training, and the three and a half rounds of fighting with every movement clear and easy to follow from the time the men enter the ring until Carpentier droped his man with a sharp left jab, and hooked him with the right to the jaw as he was falling, for the knockout in the fourth. Sportsmen will find the picture worth seeing.

The film was shipped direct from London immediately after the fight to Hongkong where they have already been shown. Mr. Weiss has not yet announced at which local theater the picture will be shown in Shanghai. Several houses are bidding for it, but no assignment has as yet been made.

IRELAND DEFEATS FRANCE AT RUGBY BY 8 POINTS TO 3

(Reuter's Service)

London, April 8.—Ireland beat France by 8 points to 3 in a Rugby football match played at Dublin today.

Although the weather was showery there was a huge crowd of spectators.

The French backs were excellent but were met by the strenuous tackling of the Irish. The home forwards put up a tremendout game in the loose, coming away repeatedly with great rushes. Clarke, the Irish scrum-half, was injured and had to be carried off the field. In spite of this the Irish forwards continued to harry the French defence unmercifully.

Just before the interval, the brilliant passing of the Irish backs ended in G. Stephenson scoring a try, which Wallis converted. At the interval Ireland had five points to their opponents' nil.

In the second half, Pascot scored a clever try for France. The French tried their hardest to gain the lead but the Irish tackling was very safe. Towards the end Wallis kicked a penalty goal for Ireland.

The Shanghai's interport hockey team, selected from the best talent in town to go north to meet Tientsin and North China at Tientsin, will take one more practice tomorrow on the Polo Field commencing at 4:30 o'clock. It will be the last workout before the team gets on the field in the North.

DENBY FEARS THIRD PLACE FOR U. S. NAVY

Secretary Bitter Against Proposed Drastic Cuts

(China Press Service)

Washington, April 9—Secretary Denby has launched his fight against the navy bill as reported from the House on the grounds that instead of enabling the United States to stand on a parity with the fleets of Britain or even Japan, the niggardly allotments have made it impossible for the American Navy to do more than hold a navy at half of that of Britain, which would place the ratios: Britain, 5; Japan, 3, and America 2 half.

The bill as reported carries $233,224,000, which is $181,000,000 less than last year and provides as follow:

The enlisted personnel is set at 67,000 of which 50,000 is for men actually at sea.

The officer personnel is left virtually intact except that 389 men in the reserve are dropped.

Commissions are authorised for 200 out of 535 Annapolis graduates.

"Non essential" vessels to the number of 254 are dropped and destroyers in commission are cut from 278 to 103.

The bill authorises only 85 submarines and all available cruisers and other auxiliaries.

The Marine Corps is cut 1,000 men while the officer personnel is unchanged.

Secretary Denby's objection to the bill is that it will necessitate the scrapping of five of the 18 capital ships authorised by the Limitations of Armaments Treaty and put the United States a bad third to Japan. The five ships must be put out of commission owing to lack of men while all second line submarines and all small craft used for training purposes will have to be put out of service.

"This bill is a challenge to the commonsense of the American people," said Secretary Denby as a final shot.

NAVY BILL REPORTED

(China Press Service)

Washington, April 9.—The House Navy Committee reported the omnibus navy bill which authorises the scrapping of ships in accordance with the navy treaty. Two battlecruisers will be converted into airplane carriers, according to its terms.

CUTS PERSONNEL 30,000

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, April 9.—The Naval Bill carrying out the Naval Treaty, as reported to the House of Representatives, provides for an expenditure of $233,000,000 (being $31,000,000 below last year). This excludes $60,000,000 necessary for the cancellation of contracts.

The Bill also provides for a discharge of personnel from 95,000 to 65,000 and largely reduces the issue of commissions to officers now qualifying, as well as the reduction of destroyers from 278 to 103.

Scotland Beat England 1-0 In Soccer Finals

England's goal was repeatedly in danger. Arichibald, on the wing, sent in a long dropping shot. The English goal keeper ran out to save, but fell, and only succeeded in pushing the ball to the feet of Wilson, who easily scored. Thereafter the Scots took charge of the game, the forwards repeatedly trying the home defence. The victory gives Scotland the international championship.

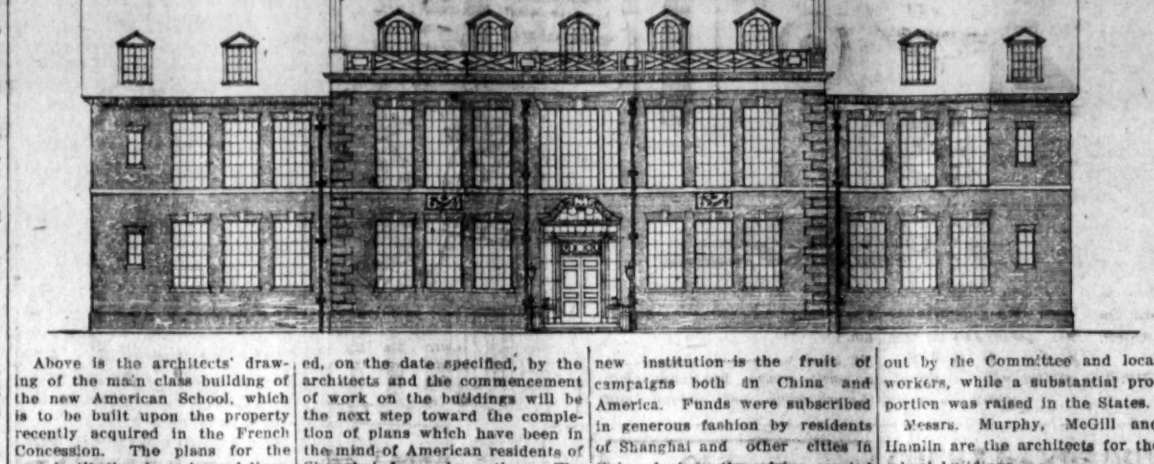
Where American Pupils Will Study



Above is the architects' drawing of the main class building of the new American School, which is to be built upon the property recently acquired in the French Concession. The plans for the new institution have been delivered, on the date specified, by the architects and the commencement of work on the buildings will be the next step toward the completion of plans which have been in the mind of American residents of Shanghai for a long time. The new institution is the fruit of campaigns both in China and America. Funds were subscribed in generous fashion by residents of Shanghai and other cities in China during the drive carried out by the Committee and local workers, while a substantial proportion was raised in the States.

Messrs. Murphy, McGill and Hamlin are the architects for the school buildings.

LEWIS, LEADER OF MINERS, SEES STEEL MILLS IDLE

Strikers' Chief Thinks Public Will Then Support Coal Men

(China Press Service)

New York, April 9.—President Lewis of the United Mine Workers declared today that the refusal of the operators to confer with the workers in the bituminous field was laying down the gage for a battle to the death.

He asserts that the operators are determined to crush the unions and that the latter will be there while the process is going on.

American industries depending upon bituminous coal will have utterly ceased within six weeks, said Vice President Murray who has been canvassing the field. He found that the non-union mines also are shutting down, especially those in the great coke producing regions.

"Without coke, no steel can be made," he stated, "so that basic industry, with its thousands of dependent industries, will be the next to be shut down throwing more than two millions of men out of work."

This would rouse public sentiment in the way the miners desired it to be aroused and bring the operators to a realisation of the insecurity of their position, he said.

American Chamber Meets To Discuss Tariff Revision

A general meeting of the American Chamber of Commerce was held last evening at the Union Club when members discussed means of assisting the American delegates to the Tariff Revision Conference. The meeting was called primarily for the purpose of obtaining data and recommendations which may be helpful to the delegation in arriving at a fair basis for the readjustment of specific duties to an effective 5 percent basis.

RECOGNISE SOVIET

(Reuter's Service)

London, April 8.—The most striking feature of the Riga agreement, the text of which has just arrived here, is that Poland, Esthonia and Latvia therein urge de jure recognition of the Soviet in the interests of the economic reconstruction of Eastern Europe. The agreement is apparently the first actual recognition of the Soviet by any of the states in regular relations with the Great Powers.

The signatories whole-heartedly support the principle of the limitation of armaments and suggest the establishment of frontier zones to which only a minimum of armed forces will be admitted.

SCHURMAN VISITS TSINGTAU ON WAY BACK TO CAPITAL

(China Press Correspondence)

Tsingtau, April 4.—Hon. Jacob Gould Schurman and party have been in Tsingtau. The U. S. S. Albany reached here early yesterday, and the American Vice-Consul, Mr. Walter Adams, held a reception at the consulate in honor of these friends. Besides American citizens there were several Japanese notables, among whom was General Yui. Captain Richardson and several officers from the Albany added a dash of color to the pleasant occasion. The Minister and his party left at midnight for Chemulpo, from which point they will see something of Seoul and Korea.

Among the guests at the Grand Hotel are Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Dailey. This old newspaper man has seen a good part of the globe in a long and varied service hunting for news. He is now special correspondent of the Chicago Tribune. China and Shantung are good places for news at present and it is likely that the American reading public is better prepared than in a long time for dispatches from the Orient.

Russian Pickpocket Jailed Three Months

Three months in jail, to be followed by expulsion from the Settlement, was the sentence passed yesterday by Assessor Mead and Magistrate Li of the Mixed Court upon Burto Mihal, Russian gypsy charged with picking the pocket of G. Chahingarlantz on a tramcar proceeding along North Soochow Road February 9.

Mr. J. Em. Lemiere, appearing for the defendant, produced witnesses to show that the accused left Shanghai the last of January but the Court was not satisfied that Mihal went to Harbin, as claimed.

COURT HANDS OUT $500 FINES FOR OPIUM SELLERS

Heavy fines were imposed yesterday by Assessor Blackburn and Magistrate Kwan of the Mixed Court on three men accused of keeping opium for sale at 604 Canton Road. The two principals in the case were assessed $500 each, with the alternative of three months' imprisonment and the third was fined $300, or two months' imprisonment. A fourth man arrested in connection with the matter was dismissed and a coolie caught outside the place just as he was about to deliver 14 balls of the contraband article was jailed for two weeks.

The police raided the shop Saturday afternoon, after a man had been sent to buy a quantity of the drug. In their search they seized over $2,000 worth of opium, together with account books and a considerable quantity of cash.

The shopmen offered the usual explanation that the proprietor of the place was in Canton and that they knew nothing of any opium transactions.

Mlle. D'Arcy Sings

Mlle. Mlle. Street Unions Want Trade Resumed At Elgin Road Market

The Elgin Road market hawkers remained on strike yesterday in spite of efforts to break the situation which was caused by the assault and wounding of four dealers by alleged detective "seconds." The assault started when one Chen Sz, wife of a newly appointed Chinese detective, was insulted by a fish-dealer.

The Street Unions of Elgin, Boundary and Cunningham Roads held a meeting yesterday in response to the appeal made to them by the victims' families. They decided to bring legal proceedings on behalf of the victims. At the same time, it was the opinion of the meeting that business at the market should be resumed at once.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is particularly a preparation for Infants and Children made agreeable to the taste, acceptable to the stomach and pleasant in its action. It has been in use for over thirty years and has always been one of the most highly esteemed of all cathartic preparations. It has one great advantage over other preparations of its kind in that while it opens the organs readily and completely, it does not have a tendency to produce subsequent constipation so much to be dreaded.

It was only after years of research in the fields of herbs and roots for a combination of purely vegetable matter that would have all the virtues of Castor Oil, without its disagreeable, nauseating properties, especially when used for infants or children, that the formula used in Fletcher's Castoria was found, and which for over 30 years has proven its worth. Try it.

Save the Babies.

Infantry mortality is something frightful. We can hardly realise that of all the children born in civilised countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one quarter die before they reach one year, thirty-seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one half before they are fifteen! We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestion, sickness, death. To avoid any possibility of giving your child opiates, or narcotics of any kind, keep Fletcher's Castoria in the house, and Save the Babies.

Dr. Hodgkin Discusses India At Federation Of Students' Convention

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, April 6.—India occupied a prominent place in yesterday's program at the World's Christian Student Federation Convention at Tsinghua College. The theme of the day was set by Dr. Henry T. Hodgkin, with whom Shanghai is familiar, in his morning address on "International Sins." He laid stress on the fact that repentance for international sin meant in the last analysis, repentance of the individual for his share in the evils disturbing society. Such international sins as exist cannot be blamed upon the press, statesmen, or church alone. He made the matter personal by saying, "We are the international problem." The bloodshed, exploitation and domination which have marked international relationships can be expurged only when the students study and promote different ideas. The international sins Dr. Hodgkin had in mind were, first, inconclusive thinking; means failure to think through the implications of the Christian religion. Second, unwillingness, based on self-assurance, shown in thoughts of others as inferior. It was here that Dr. Hodgkin found the roots of war. Third, there has been failure to dare to live Christian principles, through fear of personal consequences? The Christian, however, should never advocate, "Safety first." Fourth, a lack of love was given as the root evil of present internationalism. The problem of applying love collectively is the greatest problem before the Christian Church. Dr. Hodgkin felt that an exhibition of Christian love alone could heal the world's torment.

OPEN FORUMS

Following this speech, the delegates divided fairly equally into six open forums, dealing respectively with International Relationships, Christianity in Social and Industrial Problems, How to Present the Christian Message to Students, Christianising School Life, Students and the Church, and the Problem of Vitalising the World's Student Christian Federation.

It was evident that the students were keenly alive on those problems, and did not hesitate to express frankly their inmost convictions. In some reports it was indicated that the aims and activities of Christian students were not in keeping with established customs and ideas! They might even have to suffer for their principles. Mr. A. A. Paul, General Secretary of the Student Christian Association in India, spoke on behalf of Indian Christian students. India, he said, "is absorbed in her own national before the forum on international relationships affairs." Indian students are interested in the application of Christian principles. The intense nationalistic movement with its strong feeling against institutions and principles was shown in eloquent language to be the expression of the desire of many Indians to secure that freedom which will enable India to develop her own soul and her own culture. In accordance with the religious genius of India, both Christian and non-Christian students were quite decided that the freedom they desired could not be achieved through war, but that it was a matter of conquest of the spirit.

INDUSTRIAL PROBLEMS

Forum II had an interesting discussion on "Christianity and Social and Industrial Problems." The thoughts of this forum were grouped around the question, "Is Capitalism Essential to the Social Order?" In reply to this quite varying answers were given. This forum appointed a committee to work out a program. Forum III, dealing with the presentation of the Christian message to students, did not come to any definite conclusions. It faced among other questions the question "What is the Unique Contribution of Christianity?" It made plans to present a report of its findings.

The third session of the morning of the second day was an open meeting in which the representatives from six nations spoke of the student work in their own countries. The speeches given showed a decided tendency among students against Militarism, in some cases interest in Socialism, but in all cases an earnest desire to find the truth. Mr. Alexander L. Nikitin, of Bulgaria, said Bulgarian students did not believe much in the League of Nations. They tended somewhat toward Atheism, and demanded proof of principles in practical living.

Miss Cunningham, of Australia, said that Australian students were searching for reality. While these students representing the principles of the World's Student Christian Federation found themselves in conflict with some inside Christian organisations, they also found a growing fellowship with those outside that organisation, being really Christian in purpose.

"MATERIAL" WORLD

Mr. Shaw said that India was proud of her spiritual gifts. She had, however, passed somewhat from the period of disdaining the world to a study of the material world, with a weakening of the apprehension of things of the spirit. "Politically," Mr. Shaw said, "India is a nonentity economically, extremely poor, and spiritually, uncertain." He agreed with Mr. Paul, in showing that India's present struggle is a conflict of spiritual against material forces.

Mr. Saito, General Secretary of the Y.M.C.A. in Japan, gave a message from the Japanese Student Movement. Japanese students, he said, "are avowedly anti-militaristic, and in their thoroughgoing and systematic way, are slowly but surely undermining the foundations of the old material'stic superstructure." He also said that young Japan is wide awake; the thinking of the students has brought about an unprecedented progressive movement.

Mr. Saito's speech follows:

"Young Japan is wide-awake. Both men and women students have discredited materialism, and the superficiality of so-called civilisation. Their thinking has resulted in the rise of an unprecedented progressive movement.

"They feel that they stand on the threshold of a new age. Fifty years ago the emphasis was upon political reformation but today the majority of students are focusing their interests upon social, economic and spiritual problems.

ANTI-MILITARIST

"Like the students of all nations represented at this Conference, they are avowedly anti-militaristic, and in the most thoroughgoing and systematic way they are slowly but surely undermining the foundations of the old materialistic superstructure.

"Our message therefore must be a faithful presentation of the basic principles of our Lord Jesus Christ as applied to economic, industrial, social and international questions. Mindful of the profound changes which are being wrought in the thought and structure of society, we must renew our purpose to spread abroad the spirit of Christ in order that these changes may rest upon the firm foundation of hope and faith and love.

"Our message must inspire students with holy zeal for the ministry of unselfish service. In loyal cooperation with all churches of Christ, we should present a program of positive evangelism. Ours must be the message of the cross pointing to the way of vicarious suffering to satisfy the mood of modern students. In the province of God, we recognise that this is the day of days in the life of the students of Japan."

The most picturesque speech of the day was that of Miss D. M. Maya Das, secretary for India, who, as did her associate delegates, struck a high note of nationalistic aspiration. She said:

"The thoughtful consideration of this subject gives rise to questions such as these: What has Christianity contributed to the ancient lands of the Far East, with their ancient civilisations and ancient culture? Is there anything more that Christianity can accomplish in these lands? What has the East to contribute in the interpretation of Christ to the world?

"RECOGNISE CHRIST"

"In answer to these questions we might say that in the first place, even though the Christians in these lands are numerically few in number, the principles of Christ have permeated through the lands. In India the Indian press, as opposed to the Anglo-Indian, has on several occasions recognised the principles of Christ as the basis for the estimation of the work of the great national leader, Mr. Ghandi.

"In the second place, Christianity as it is presented today to the East is not so much Christ as Christianity, a Christianity which has evolved in the West and is entrusted with the traditions and customs of 1,800 years of a people with a temperament differing from the people of the East. What we need is to study the ancient religions of the East just as much as we study the Bible. We must try to understand and appreciate all that is good and beautiful in them. There is much that we might respect in these religions, much that we might keep and incorporate into our apprehension of the teachings of Christ. It is only when we have done this that we shall, likewise, be able to bring Christ near to the peoples of the ancient lands of the Far East.

"Lastly, the East has a duty to perform in interpreting Christ to the world. 'Maya,' the Sanskrit word for wealth, means also illusion. To the Indian mind the unseen world is true reality, and what to others may seem impractical and visionary seems quite possible to us. This is the great heritage of the East. Much has been said of what the West has done and left undone; might the West not rise up and accuse us that we who had this gift have not helped them to understand?"

The entire delegation yesterday visited the Summer Palace, and today went out to the Great Wall at Naankow Pass.

Indigestion and Constipation.

"Prior to using Chamberlain's Tablets, I suffered dreadfully from indigestion. Nothing I ate agreed with me and I lost flesh and ran down in health. Chamberlain's Tablets strengthened my digestion and cured me of constipation," writes Mrs. George Stroup, Solvay, N. Y.

London, April 9.—The intercecine quarrel in Ireland has become a real menace.

The Republicans endeavored to wreck a special train, in which Mr. Michael Collins, who was due to address a protreaty meeting at Wexford, was expected to travel from Dublin. Mr. Collins foiled his opponents by travelling overnight.

Other trains were held up, roads blocked, and telegraph wires cut in all directions.

23 French Soldiers Die In Explosion While Hunting Arms

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, April 9.—According to a telegram from Kattowitz a diabolical outrage, involving a casualty roll at present estimated at 23 deaths and 6 injured, occurred in the course of a search for arms by French occupation troops. A party was carrying out this duty in a crpt under the chapel in a cemetery between Gleiwitz and Sosnowice and had penetrated a subterranean passage when a violent explosion occurred.

Examination revealed that a hidden arms depot had been mined and that the explosion had been caused by an infernal machine and was so powerful that the soldiers' bodies were hurled a hundred meters. The chapel was completely destroyed.

Prior to the explosion, the soldiers discovered rifles, machine guns and ammunition.

My last baby was sickly from birth and the benefit that the Tablets have afforded is simply wonderful. They do all that is claimed for them and more. I would not be without them for anything."

Every careful parent will insist that medicine given to children should be absolutely pure, safe, gentle and free from narcotic drugs. Baby's Own Tablets exactly answer this description. Won By Sheer Eloquence, Says Marcosson, In Peking

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, April 6.—"Wellington Koo and Alfred Sze appeared as great outstanding personalities to the newspapermen at the Washington Conference, and accomplished China's aims by sheer eloquence," said Isaac F. Marcosson in a special interview given to this agency today.

"Chang Tso-lin gave me two interviews in Mukden on Tuesday. He impressed me as an agreeable host, an interesting personality, and a man of quiet forcefulness. I know too little of the political situation to express any judgment as to his aims and purposes, but I may say that he displayed an insight into current affairs and world politics which was most illuminating.

"I am going to Tientsin on Friday to see Liang Shih-yi, and next week hope to have the pleasure of talking with the President and also with Wu Pei-fu. Later I may be able to express a more accurate view of things."

"The people of the United States gave to China an immense moral support during the Washington Conference and this support was felt by all who participated in the negotiation. China, however, must settle her own internal difference and can expect no loans from America until there is reunification and a stable and respected government. The American public was delighted that Shantung was returned and pleased with Japan because they did return it. To what extent the Japanese will retain their economic control remains to be seem. If Japan wishes to hold the good opinion she has earned in America, she must act with liberality in the many details which are contingent upon the return of Shantung."

Turks Object To Constantinople

(Reuter's Service)

Constantinople, April 9.—The Sublime Porte's reply to the Allied proposals says that the Turks will be ready to send delegates to negotiate peace within three weeks, but regrets that owing to local reasons, they are unable to accept Constantinople as a venue for the conference, and asks the Allies to fix some town in Western Europe.

Paris, April 9.—In connection with the Kemalist reply to the Allied Note (cabled on April 6) it is understood that the Allies will insist on the conditions laid down in their memorandum serving as the basis of discussion.

Constantinople advices state that the Sublime Porte has presented its reply to the Allied proposals. Its nature is not disclosed.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

April 10, 1922

Spot and forward bar silver were unchanged in London and New York on Saturday.

The London-New York cross rate advanced to 441.

The only change in the official quotations here today was a rise in the Gold Dollar rate to 71¾.

Our market during the morning was steady, with sellers of Sterling at 3-3⅜ for any delivery until June and of Gold dollars at 73¼.

In the afternoon, however, rates eased off somewhat, the best sellers offering 3 3⅜ for Sterling and 73 for Gold dollars.

The market was quiet though speculators were fairly steady buyers.

India and the Continent sold silver in London on Saturday and America bought.

The market there as well as in New York is reported as steady.

Singapore Rubber Auctions

Singapore, March 22, 1922

The advance reported last week was not maintained very long, the prices having again eased off slightly in the consuming markets. London was this morning reported at 7⅝d. and New York at 14 cents. The local market appears to be over-sold, and rather short of ready stock, in consequence of which prices have been slightly above the parity of the consuming markets.

At today's auction value shew an all-round decline of about one cent on the week, but there was a good demand at the lower level.

793 tons were put up for sale, 621 tons offered and 527 tons sold.

Awarded Standard Ribbed Smoked Sheet sold at 26 cents which marks a decline of one cent.

Several sellers, however, withdrew their lots at the above figure, probably with a view to hold out for higher prices in the outside market.

Some lots packed in cases sold at 26½ cents.

Sheet equal to Standard was well competed for; some lots even sold at the same price as Awarded Sheet.

Off Quality Sheet sold to an interested market.

Only very few lots of Awarded Standard 1st Latex were catalogued, and no sales are recorded.

Crepe equal to Standard found ready buyers.

Off Color Latex was in very good demand.

Brown, Dark and Barky Crepes were well competed for at an average decline of about one cent.

Cultivate France, Churchill Slogan

(Reuter's Service)

London, April 8.—Speaking at Dundee, Mr. Winston Churchill said that the keynote of Great Britain's European policy was to achieve a good understanding with France by assuring France assistance in the event of an unprovoked German attack. This, he said, would anchor France's heart to Britain.

Mr. Churchill declared that the Government would continue its policy of retrenchment, but that it was impossible to contemplate reducing the navy below a one-power standard.

The condition in Ireland gave cause for great anxiety, and possibly things there would get worse before they got better.

Lasker Hopes To Increase Shipping

(China Press Service)

Washington, April 7.—Chairman A. D. Lasker of the United States Shipping Board, at a hearing here today said that the Shipping Board hopes to assist in the establishment of a United States merchant marine comparable to Great Britain, adding "Japan has entered our picture."

Referring to the recent statement of Mr. James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation, who said that the "government merchant marine compared favorably with foreign ships," Chairman Lasker said that "if Mr. Farrell would look over our fleet or spend three weeks in our offices he would agree to a large degree that our shipping cannot compete on an equal footing with foreign vessels."

IMPARTIAL & PROGRESSIVE

SHANGHAI, APRIL 11, 1922

WEATHER

Overcast and relatively cold weather with intermittent rain in our valley. Easterly or N. Easterly breezes or winds over our coasts and in the South. Variable breezes in the North.

Conjugal Complications

A WITTY Chinese political essayist remarked that the Chinese Republic has married four Parliaments in rapid succession, without clear bill of divorce from any one. Although the young democracy has got itself into many entanglements, this aggravated case of constitutional bigamy is undoubtedly the most difficult.

The situation is again brought into prominence by the endeavors of stranded members of the various parliaments to inject themselves into the present factional struggle. Meetings are being held in the gardens of a Japanese trading concern in Peking, and manifestoes are being published.

The First Parliament was driven away from her Peking domicile by Yuan Shih-k'ai, her legal child, and later received, in emaciated condition, into the arms of her first lover, Sun Yat-sen, with whom she has gone through many vicissitudes. The Second Parliament was driven from her happy home by the rough interloper and monarchical restorer, Chang Hsun. Later, she was given a reluctant bill of divorcement by Li Yuan-hung, under pressure from his Premier, Tuan Chi-jui.

The Third Parliament was betrothed for the sole purpose of bringing forth a Presidential son in the shape of Hsu Shih-chang. The Anfu overthrow sent her out to wander in the cold world. Now, her own son has repudiated her and has asked the provinces to provide a fourth parliamentary bride for the Peking government.

Each of these four parliamentary wives has a more or less involved claim upon or case against their maritally prodigal husband. In view of his impecunious and enervated state, however, it is hardly worth their while to press them.

The present attempt to enlist the parliamentarians of all four dispensations in Peking for mutual self-protection, in spite of manifestoes, secret meetings and intrigue, is doomed to failure; just as any endeavor to unite four wives for reinstatement in the home of one polygamous husband would be a psychological impossibility.

Correspondence

"PRINTED MATTER"

Editor: THE CHINA PRESS.

Dear Sir,—Shanghai is going back to the dark ages now, if we can judge from the recent proposal to enforce such an unjust and wrongful "Printed Matter" bylaw, whose detail was described in THE CHINA PRESS, 28th ult. Its chief purpose, I dare say, is to prevent criticism. What is "Freedom of Speech?" Has any civilised country in the modern world such a cruel law? Since we shall not be allowed to speak, we are going to lose our mouths!

Well, I have here a suggestion that the Municipal Council had better require the ratepayers to register their opinions and speeches before the annual meeting.

I am anti-Bolsheviki, of course, but I am also against oppressors. Extreme policies here or elsewhere do not make for peace. I am, Yours respectfully,

A SPEAKER.

Gainsborough Work Brought To America

Famous "Blue Boy" Reaches New York—Bought By American For $730,000

Gainsborough's "Blue Boy," believed by many critics to be the most beautiful portrait ever painted, has reached New York. It was bought early in the winter from the Duke of Westminster by the Duveen Brothers and later sold to Henry E. Huntington of New York. The price the Duveen Brothers paid, $730,000 at the present rate of exchange, is said to be one of the highest ever given for a picture. Before leaving London, the portrait was thoroughly cleaned by experts and exhibited for three weeks in the National Gallery before many thousand Englishmen who came in curiosity, and lingered in reverence, to have a last look at the masterpiece before it crossed the ocean.

Every imaginable precaution was taken to insure its safe transportation. It was heavily insured and then placed in three cases, the first waterproof, the second, steel, and the third, bound with iron. Two men accompanied it on its journey; it had a cabin to itself. This escort and seclusion were shared by another Gainsborough painting, "The Cottage Door," also purchased by Duveen Brothers. The voyage was made on La Savoie, sailing from Havre on January 28.

The portrait is now in storage, but will be taken out for exhibition at the Duveen Galleries, 720 Fifth Avenue. The exhibition, which will last for three weeks, will be a great event in New York art and society circles.

LONDON TAKES A LAST LOOK

The effect of the painting upon the American public is expected to be a duplication of its recent reception in London, when on a Saturday morning there would be a crowd of more than 100 people standing before it within 20 minutes. As they approached to each other, but when they stood before it and gazed, a silence fell on them, even on the loquacious who had been chatting lightly a moment before. Workmen at noon hour, girls out shopping, fathers with their children, connoisseurs and street urchins crowded before the rail and ceased to speak; and stayed, and stayed, as though to fix the vision in their memories forever.

Small doubt of their succeeding: once seen "The Blue Boy" is not forgotten. It is there and will not be denied. No one can envy today, as they could yesterday, those fortunate ones who saw it when it was freshly painted, for its first beauty has been restored. Through many years a gradual film of dust had gathered on it, clouding its crowning glory, the blue for which it is named. Art lovers who saw it then acknowledged their disappointment—it seemed dimmer, duller than they had expected, hardly explaining the enthusiasm of Hayman and other early critics. But now it is again a harmony in blue and brown and silver, vivid, luminous, alive.

THE TRIUMPH OF ART

The boy stands in a landscape whose rocks and trees and water are alive when one tears onself from the Blue Boy to look at them; but, good as they are—one remembers, too, that Sir Joshua Reynolds called Gainsborough the best painter in Europe—one scarcely notices them. The Blue Boy fills the vision. The head is solidly painted, far more so than is the painter's wont, and its modeling is worth of Franz Hals: the brown hair tones with the beaver hat and shoes, the brown eyes follow you. It is the very triumph of art that with all this bravery of blue satin and silver, all the harmonious tones of this daring brilliance, it is the face that you remember. The cleaning has brought out all that dazzled Gainsborough's contemporaries; the color, the silver, veiled by a century and a half of gradual dust, shine as they shone in the painter's studio.

John Taylor, the portrait painter, made a call on the Keeper of Prints and Drawings in the British Museum on Nov. 3, 1832, and talked to him of the days long before when he had been the friend of Hogarth, the pupil of Hayman, and the intimate of the poet Churchill. The keeper wrote down afterward their conversation.

"Did you know Gainsborough, sir?" he asked of John Taylor.

"Oh, I remember him; he was an odd man at times," was the reply. "I recollect my master, Hayman, coming home after he had been to an exhibition, and saying what an extraordinary picture Gainsborough had painted of the Blue Boy; it is as fine as Vandyke."

WHO IS THIS BOY?

"Who was the Blue Boy, sir?"

"Why, he was an ironmonger, but why so called I don't know. He lived at the corner of Greek and King streets, Soho; an immensely rich man."

The conversation went off into other channels, and no more was said of Gainsborough; but the conversation, brief as it is, is of the greatest interest. Although Master Jonathan Buttall, the Blue Boy, was the iron monger's son, rather than the iron-monger it is clear, in the first place, that Hayman's having seen it dates it as before 1776, instead of 1779, the date to which many writers have assigned it; and, in the second place, Hayman here proves himself a true prophet; it is as fine as Vandyke.

Unique Tribute Is Paid Washington

Woman Aids In Preserving British Ancestral Home

New York.—It was only a few years ago that a group of public-spirited men and women of England got together, purchased Sulgrave Manor, Washington's ancestral home in Northamptonshire, England, and turned it over to a board of trustees to maintain forever as a place of pilgrimage for all who venerate the name of that great Colonial Englishman who became the Father of the American Republic. Out of that deed came the formation of an Anglo-American organisation, the Sulgrave Institution, whose members on either side of the Atlantic are striving to keep alive the spirit of sympathy and accord between the two English-speaking nations.

Nearly ten years ago, British Sulgrave took up the management of Sulgrave Manor. Now, there comes the news from England that British Sulgrave has received from Mrs. John Biddulph Martin, widow of a London banker, the gift of another manor house, with grounds and outbuildings, sufficient to make it an ideal headquarters for the organisation.

John A. Stewart, Chairman of the Board of Governors of American Sulgrave, brought the announcement from England a few days ago. It is a story that illustrates the growth of fellowship between America and England.

Nearly eighty years ago, in the little town of Homer, Ohio, there was born a girl, Victoria Claflin. She married a doctor named Woodhull, who died a year or so later. Mrs. Woodhull was then in her twenties. She was a woman with more than ordinary intellectual powers and soon became very well known in America.

Mrs. Woodhull had an ideal that she kept ever before her, and which she urged upon all that would listen. This ideal was considered ridiculous in those days. It was that England and America should cease from their attitude of mutual suspicion and distrust.

"Mrs. Woodhull traveled a great deal," said Mr. Stewart. "She lectured not only in New York, but also in London. Her sentiments were received with the same irritation and abuse that greeted the early pleas of the suffragists both in America and England. She was hissed off the stage at Cooper Union on one occasion. In London she got similar treatment. An American flag she had was torn up. But she would not quit. She felt certain that England and America had too much in common to travel so far apart."

Mrs. Woodhull finally became a British subject through marrying John Biddulph Martin, one of the wealthiest men in England. His death left her owner of one of the finest estates in the British Isles. It is a part of this that composes the manor of Bredon's Norton. This is the manor she has given to Sulgrave. Ultimately the Institution is to get the remainder, consisting of a modern manor house and about 1,600 acres. She has lived to see her hopes fulfilled. England and America are now traveling together.

Of especial interest to Americans, therefore, is this estate, Bredon's Norton. Situated about twenty miles south-east of the City of Worcester in the lovely valley of the Avon, it is only forty miles from Sulgrave Manor and about the same distance from Stratford-on-Avon, Shakespeare's birthplace. It is in the heart of historic England, and looks upon the battlefields of four or five of Britain's most desperate combats, going all the way back to the Roman occupation when Caesar and his legions annihilated the painted warriors of the British Queen, Boadicea.

The old manor house is worthy of its surroundings, being built in the fifteenth century. It was occupied then by Sir Thomas Copley, a partner of Sir Walter Raleigh in the Virginia venture. This manor house will house British Sulgrave. It is of the typical stone and cement construction of the period. The windows in front are still the smallpaned apertures they were when the place was built. In the rear, modern carpenters and glaziers have wrought in the interests of light and ventilation. The house contains seventeen bedrooms, numerous halls and six or seven other rooms.

Inside the house there are relics which also go to the Sulgrave Institution and which are valued at $80,000. They include a fire-screen and andirons from the Holyrood palace, and an oak table as old as the manor house. This table is four inches thick and about twenty feet long. There are chairs which date back to the time of the first Stuart King, and any quantity of old English tapestry.

One of the most interesting rooms in the house is known as the "Panel Room" on the second floor. Built of solid oak, this room offers commentary on the period in which it was constructed. On one side there is a bulge, where when a panel is slid back, can be seen a secret staircase leading to a passageway underground to other buildings of the estate where the lord of the manor could make hurried escape whenever some enemy stronger than himself came looking for him.

A most interesting room is the "powder room." It is built like a dumbwaiter shaft between two bedrooms, but with a sliding door in each wall. It was the custom of "My Lady" to put her head into this room, slide the door down on her neck and let her maid dust a quart of powder over her neck and through her hair. The waste powder went onto the floor of the "powder room" instead of over "My Lady's" finery.

Included in the estate is an old "tythe barn," so named from the fact that it was the place tenants of the lord of the manor brought their "tythe" or taxes of grain or fruit or flowers or whatever it was they paid for the privilege of tilling the soil. The barn has the slots for the arrows of the long bowmen still in its walls. It is hundreds of years older, even, than the great manor house.

Lately, Mr. Stewart said, the barn has been used as a meeting place for the people who came to receive the bounty of Mrs. Martin. It will hold about 300 persons without crowding. It is equipped with a complete stage and dressing room. With the other buildings the "tythe" barn, in springtime, is covered from foundation to roof with the most beautiful and luxurious profusion of roses, red and pink, yellow and white.

It is the purpose of the Sulgrave Institution to make Bredon's Norton a center of the organisation's activities in England. Sulgrave Manor is too small, and, in addition, the hundreds and thousands of persons who visit the ancestral home of George Washington from England and from the United States each year make it impractical to use as headquarters. At Bredon's, however, there are living quarters and spacious grounds."

Mr. Stewart said that the institution would invite men who were writing or doing research work to live at Bredon's while they were working in the neighborhood. For the rest, he said it would have all the comforts of a modern country club for members of the institution. There will be a Board of Trustees to manage the property, eight of whom will be Americans and eight British.

And thus after a lifetime Mrs. Martin sees her earliest dream coming true. An organisation has taken up the work she began so long ago.

Preventative Medicine.

The tendency of medical science is toward preventative measures. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. Pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, often follows a cold or attack of the grip. The cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the pneumonia germ. The longer the cold hangs on, the greater the danger. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the first indication of a cold appears so as to get rid of it with the least possible delay. It is folly to risk an attack of pneumonia when this remedy may be obtained for a trifle.

German Competition

By SAMUEL MacCLINTOCK
(The Annalist)

The ghost of German competition is giving our manufacturers a bad scare, or else is being made to walk for a protective purpose. On every hand one hears that cheap German goods make, or are going to make, it impossible for us to compete in world markets and will close our factories at home unless excluded by higher tariff duties.

What are the facts? How much are we receiving from Germany? How does this amount compare with pre-war imports? How are we actually faring in competitive markets?

From the figures in the accompanying table it is apparent that we are not being swamped with German goods, inasmuch as we took $8,000,000 less in 1921 than in 1920. To be sure the quantity was larger, as the 1921 price level was materially lower than that of the previous year. It is to be noted, however, that the 1921 quantities were much below those of 1914. Last year we took about 7 percent of Germany's total exports—just about the same proportion as before the war.

Our total imports from Germany for 1921 amounted to only $80,279,943, as compared with $188,963,071 in 1913 when the price level was at least 40 percent lower than last year. The largest items in our imports in 1921 were toys, amounting to $4,867,814; newspaper print, $3,611,266; cotton gloves, $3,190,237; furs and fur-skins, undressed $2,072,842; leather goods, $2,006,707; earthen, stone and china ware $1,902,329; dyes and other coal tar products, $1,718,776; beads and bead ornaments, $1,273,858; wood pulp, $1,189,619; cotton stockings $1,172,424; motion picture films, sensitised but not exposed, $1,111,036.

This list includes all commodities valued at more than $1,000,000 each. The newspaper print was of the cheapest kind, whereas, before the war, it was of the finer grades. The quality of the recent importations has been so poor that the largest contract by an American consumer was canceled last year. The increase in earthen, stone and china ware, in scissors and shears, in cotton goods and stockings has also been of the cheaper kinds. In such goods competition in the future may be severe.

German coal tar products, such as colors and dyes, have not regained their importance in this market. Raw films, on the other hand, show a very large gain, although the quantity is less than the imports from France and Belgium. German films, unlike nearly all their other articles, have won a place in our market because of the excellence of their subject matter and their artistic production. This is notably true of the historical films.

Our exports to Germany in 1921 amounted to $372,325,237, which was more in value, but less in volume than the $331,684,212 of 1913. Raw cotton was by far our largest export to Germany in 1921 amounting to $110,985,478. The next largest items were wheat, $61,192,875; lard, $35,456,404; copper, $31,057,096; wheat flour $11,859,440; lubricating oil, $11,502,598; corn, $10,258,795; hog products—bacon, $7,306,267; milk, condensed and evaporated, $6,387,137; tobacco unmanufactured, $5,534,449; naphtha, etc., $2,546,538; oleo oil, $2,296,516; furs and skins raw or manufactured, $2,080,203; cottonseed, $2,026,336; illuminating oil, $1,167,745; fruits, dried prunes, $1,092,282.

This includes all of our commodities over $1,000,000 in value, mainly raw materials and food.

Germany's industrial boom is due to the fact that her depreciated paper currency has a higher value within the country than it has outside. As the currency depreciates, however, materials, labor and all other production costs rise proportionately, although with a considerable lag. Recent dispatches from the American Commercial Attache in Berlin indicate that costs of all kinds are rising rapidly and that the depreciated currency is proving a veritable mare's nest. German industry is largely dependent upon foreign raw materials and these are increasingly difficult to command with her depreciated currency. Thus the iron and steel industry, although booked several months ahead with orders, is operating at only two-thirds of normal capacity because of the expensiveness of foreign ore.

Germany does possess a very real advantage in her relatively cheap and efficient labor, and can compete successfully when the chief element consists of labor and not of imported materials. But wages rise with the fall in value of the mark, and this tends to equalise the costs of production between Germany and other countries. Whether these costs will become stabilised at a point sufficiently low to enable her to offer serious competition with other highly organised industrial countries, it is yet too early to see. But it can be definitely said that, so far, German competition has been more of a bogy than an actuality. And this is true in foreign competitive markets as well as in the United States. German agents are active both in Latin-America and in the Far East, but the actual deliveries in these markets have as yet been small in quantity and poor in quality.

"One leads where many follow."

Hall's Distemper has led the way to a new era in house decoration—the era of brighter, cleaner and healthier homes.

It is the most durable of all decorations, lasting for years with freshness unimpaired, whereas wall-papers deteriorate from the first day by fading and accumulating dust and dirt.

Hall's Distemper is a thorough disinfectant, and is applied directly upon the wall, forming a hard surface, from which dust and dirt may be "spring-cleaned" by lightly sponging with warm water.

Hall's Distemper

is a unique preparation and has the recommendation of leading sanitary authorities, architects, and decorators everywhere.

Impossible Airships

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS
(Eminent Astronomer And Authority On Subjects Of Scientific Interest)

"If someone were to build a dirigible airship approximately 1,300 feet in length and 125 feet in diameter, built of very heavy steel construction, the bag being divided into 13 absolutely airtight tanks strong enough to stand up under an absolute vacuum, and the air were pumped out of these tanks, would the resultant outside air pressure be sufficient to float the airship? I figure the air pressure to be between 5,000,000 and 6,480,000 tons.

"The paradox which puzzles me is that an electric light bulb contains a vacuum the pressure of which is 240 pounds on the outside surface and still the bulb does not float upward on account of this pressure.—J. A. G.

You would not make a success in the balloon business with your present ideas about air pressure and buoyancy. The great steel construction airship that your imagination has conjured up would remain very firmly anchored to the ground.

In order to make it rise you would have to construct it of some material at once strong enough and light enough to enable it to resist the pressure and be, at the same time, lighter in its total weight than an equal volume of the surrounding air.

A balloon rises by virtue of an excess of the upward pressure of the air over the downward pressure of the balloon, and this excess is measured by the difference between the weight of the balloon and the weight of the air that it displaces.

If this difference is in favor of the balloon, i.e., if the air displaced by the gas bag is greater in weight than the weight of the gas bag together with its attachments, then the balloon will rise; otherwise not.

You seem to be confusing the total pressure of the air upon the outside of the balloon, or vacuum tank, with the difference of pressure just described. You have vastly exaggerated the outside pressure on your tanks. It would amount to about one ton per square foot for the entire surface. The surface of a cylinder 1,300 feet long and 125 feet in diameter would be about 534,000 square feet. This represents approximately the number of tons of air pressure on the whole tank, and that pressure would be the same whether the tank enclosed a vacuum or were filled with solid steel.

It is, moreover, a pressure exerted in all directions. Nevertheless, by the law of fluid pressure, it would produce on the tank a slightly greater upward than downward force, and, as stated before in different terms, this would measure the amount of buoyancy, or tendency to rise. The volume of your cylinder would be, in round numbers, 16,000,000 cubic feet. A cubic foot of air weighs about an ounce and a quarter, so that the volume of air displaced would weigh only 400 tons. How much your rigid steel construction tank, 1,300 feet long and 125 in diameter, would weigh, I leave you to calculate, but you must certainly perceive at a glance that it would immensely exceed the weight of the displaced air, and therefore would not have the ghost of a chance to rise.

Your puzzlement about the failure of an exhausted electric light bulb to go floating about the room because of the pressure of the air on the outside is natural enough in view of your calculations about the airship. The electric light bulb would float if the weight of the glass were less than the weight of a volume of air equal to that of the bulb.

If that were the case the bulb would float by virtue of the same principle that enables a steel ship of many thousands of tons' weight to float. If the steel composing the ship were welded together in a single lump, or a number of separate lumps, it would plunge straight to the bottom, but human brains having distributed the steel's entire weight through a hollow semi-cylinder, whose total enclosed volume is far greater than the volume of a quantity of water having the same weight as the steel, and the bottom of the half-cylinder being cunningly kept downward by ballast so that the water cannot enter the enclosed space, the whole ponderous structure safely floats.

By keeping the water out of the hull it is compelled to exert itself to carry the very ship that it would sink if it could. If old ocean only knew how he is being fooled, or how to meet cunning with greater cunning, he might take a terrible revenge on those who make a dancing floor of him.

But when he does get his chance he uses it thoroughly, and the same is true of the atmosphere. A burned balloon, or a broken aeroplane does not more surely plunge to the ground than a ship once filled with water goes to the bottom of the sea. The myth of lost ships floating at mid-depth in the eternal silence and gloom of the ocean is too appealing in its hold on the imagination to be dissipated by scientific contradiction, but it is only a myth.

Woman's Club Planning For Next Term's Work

The American Woman's Club is already beginning to plan its program for the work of the next term which opens in October, and the Executive Committee of the Music Department which met with Mrs. M. C. Guss last Monday afternoon has formulated some very interesting general principles which will govern its meetings. This department will center its attention on two main subjects—the various schools of operatic music and American composers, including one afternoon with American Indian music.

Last Tuesday afternoon at a very well attended business meeting the following officers were elected to carry on the work of the Club for the season 1922-23:

President, Mrs. J. B. Fearn.
1st Vice-President, Mrs. P. H. Dunbar.
2nd Vice-President, Mrs. Fred Van Buskirk.
Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. L. W. Strawn.
Recording Secretary, Mrs. R. T. Bryan Jr.
Treasurer, Mrs. Leroy Healey.
Librarian, Mrs. M. C. Guss.
Asst. Librarian, Mrs. J. C. Upson.
Directors, Mesdames Lockwood, Hiltner, Perkins, Lurton.

MADE HONORARY MEMBER

Mrs. Young J. Allen, a valued member of the Club for many years, was made an Honorary Member, amendments to the Constitution as recommended by the Committee on Revision were adopted, and Mrs. Richard Swain, a charter member of the Club who has just returned from the States, brought back the greetings of the home clubs to this distant member of the general Federation. At the next general meeting of the Club, April 18, the Music Department will present a program from the works of American composers.

At the meeting of the Mothers' Department held last Wednesday morning at the Carlton Cafe Miss Bernice Austin of the American School spoke on "Music in the Home" and demonstrated how children may best be taught songs. The essentials emphasised by the speaker were that the material presented must be first musically interesting, second, permanently valuable, third appealing to the children themselves, and fourth applicable to the stage of development of the children concerned.

To interest children in a song Miss Austin advised frequent singing of the song, with clear pronunciation and enunciation in a light voice, with explanation of any new words. "Repeat the song often enough to be sure that the children understand it, but don't weary them with it," she urged. "Have several songs being taught at the same time. Remember that any child can be taught to sing if he has normal hearing and a normal speaking voice. Never forget that a child's vocal organs are small and delicate and should not be strained by loud singing or shouting.

"Rhythm is instinctive, the first form of music, and the best way to teach it to children is to make use of motions, singing games and dramatisations. Jessie Gaynor's songs for children and Louise Murphy's 'Bird Songs for Little Folks' are delightful collections."

Miss Austin illustrated her remarks with phonograph records and with songs at the piano, making a thoroughly delightful address.

MUSIC SECTION TO ELECT

The next meeting will be held on April 19 when the election of officers will be held and Mrs. B. C. Hubbard will read a paper on "Uncle Sam at Your Service." This paper is designed to show the assistance which the U. S. government offers the homemaker through its practical pamphlets which may be had on request. It is hoped to have a large collection of these on exhibit at this time. The Easter Saturday Egg Rolling will take place April 15 at Jessfield Park.

A large number of members keenly interested in the work of the Social Service Department met at the Carlton Cafe Friday morning to plan for the work of the coming season. A most gratifying enthusiasm in the proposed work of this department was manifested and the following officers were elected:

Mrs. Harrison King, chairman; Mrs. J. W. Nichols, first vice-president; Mrs. R. A. Parker, second vice-president; Mrs. H. J. Ossenbeck, secretary; Miss Ethel Allen, treasurer; Finance Committee: Mrs. Gardner Crane, chairman; Mesdames John Hykes, H. B. Lane, H. F. Finklestein, James Macbeth, T. B. Dunn, McMartin and J. C. Terry; The Navy Y.M.C.A. Committee: Mesdames F. Patstone, Helen Hoorin, M. McKnight, M. C. Guss, Vilioudaki, C. T. Owens, Robinson, Paul Brown, and Miss Rose Hart; Committee on Community Service: Mesdames James McDonnell, Lansing Hoyt, Brenneman and Carlton Lacy.

On Friday the 14th the Literary Department will hold its regular meeting at five o'clock at the Royal Asiatic Society's rooms. Papers will be read by Mrs. Mabee on "Mencius and His Writings" and by Mrs. Edwards on "The Conquering State of Tsin." On April 21 at 4:30 the Program Committee will meet at Mrs. Wilbur's home to map out the work for next year.

U. S. Destroyers To Come Here

(China Press Service)

Manila, April 6.—A squadron of 18 destroyers of the United States navy is expected to sail for China ports, including Shanghai, on June 1, according to orders made public here today.

The squadron is now in Manila Bay with the tender, Buffalo, after having finished target practice off Olongapo. The destroyers squadron is in command of Captain George T. Pettingill, U.S.N., who recently relieved Captain Willis McDowell. The squadron vessels carry crews of 2,000 men.

Waichiaspu Says Flag Of Japan Was Misused

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, April 7.—With regard to the telegram from Shantung stating that a number of robbers had arrived at a point near Tsingtao on board a launch flying the Japanese flag, which was communicated to the press, the Foreign Offices stated today that if the suspicion had arisen from the newspaper reports that the Japanese were connected with the incident there was no intention on the part of the Waichiaopu to convey that impression, but merely to show the difficulties against which the local authorities had to contend.

The Waichiaopu emphasised, as it did on the first occasion, that the Japanese flag had probably been used as a protection against the authorities, and pointed out that instances of Chinese launches using foreign flags were quite common.

There was no reason to believe that the Japanese were connected with the affair. The robbers were Chinese of the usual type of bandit.
